Quarter Highlights

- Net sales increased, reflecting robust growth across all four segments.
- Operating margin and adjusted operating margin increased, reflecting profitable sales growth, pricing and operational performance, partially offset by tariff pressure.
- Diluted net earnings per share and adjusted diluted net earnings per share, both at record levels, were driven by higher operating margin and higher sales, offset partially by tariff pressure.
- Free cash flow improved significantly, driven by strong earnings and working capital management.
- Twelve-month backlog increased 33% to a record $3.3 billion, reflecting continued demand across our markets.

Segment Results

Sales in the second quarter of 2026 increased 13% to $1.1 billion. Space and Defense sales increased 16% to $314 million, reflecting broad-based defense demand. Demand was particularly strong for space vehicles and missile controls. Commercial Aircraft sales increased 15% to $247 million, driven by increased volume and pricing on certain major production programs. Military Aircraft sales increased 10% to $235 million, driven by higher activity on the MV-75 program. Industrial sales increased 9% to $256 million, driven by strong demand for data center cooling pumps, as well as favorable foreign currency translation.

Operating margin in the second quarter of 2026 increased 140 basis points to 13.1%, compared to the second quarter of 2025. Military Aircraft operating margin increased 260 basis points to 13.7%, driven by profitable sales growth. Space and Defense operating margin increased 170 basis points to 13.8%, driven by profitable sales growth, partially offset by increased investments for product development, business capture and operational readiness. Industrial operating margin increased 130 basis points to 12.9%, driven by lower charges associated with simplification initiatives and the benefits from business optimization, partially offset by tariff pressure. Commercial Aircraft operating margin increased 10 basis points to 11.9%, driven by pricing benefits, partially offset by tariff pressure.

Adjusted operating margin excludes $3 million and $7 million of charges primarily associated with simplification initiatives in the second quarter of 2026 and 2025, respectively. Industrial adjusted operating margin decreased 20 basis points to 13.2% in the second quarter of 2026 compared with the second quarter of 2025, as tariff pressure offset simplification benefits.

Free Cash Flow Results

Free cash flow for the quarter was $98 million. Strong earnings contributed to cash generation, while working capital remained relatively constant despite strong sales growth. Inventory growth to support higher sales was largely offset by customer advances. Capital expenditures were $32 million, reflecting continued investment to support future growth.

Fiscal 2026 Financial Guidance

"We had an outstanding second quarter and expect an even stronger business performance in the second half of 2026," said Jennifer Walter, CFO. "We're increasing our 2026 guidance for sales and adjusted earnings per share, and reaffirming our guidance for adjusted operating margin and free cash flow conversion."
